Ersilia, an Italian artist working in Doha, Gyatri, a Spanish artist working in India and Monica, a Portugese artist working in London have all had to cast off previous preconceptions and look at the world through the eyes of a new country.

'This Location' examines how far art is nature, and how much is nurture. What role does environment play in creating ideas and determining style? And, in an increasingly accessible world, it asks if 'migratory' art is now playing a more important role in shaping cultures.

Exhibition runs from 8th July - 31st July 2010.
